Because noncognitive qualities like grit, curiosity, self-control, optimism, and conscientiousness are often described, with some accuracy, as skills, educators eager to develop these qualities in their students quite naturally tend to treat them like the skills that we already know how to teach: reading, calculating, analyzing, and so on. And as the value of noncognitive skills has become ...

Most supervisors would find #2 and #3 to be problematic and requiring additional steps. In #2, immediate attention should be given to the possibility that this client should be transferred to another therapist, as a cardinal rule of every profession is "do no harm" and the highest duty of the supervisor is to protect the client.
