The Metamorphic Technique and the Universal Principles are as brother and sister, two sides of the same coin. The main concern of both is to find ways of being an environment in which the life force of the patient can act completely freely, without interference, allowing the person to transform in whatever way is necessary.

Most of this small book is a philosophical background on healing. (I skipped over a lot of that. Talking about philosophy bores me.) The metamorphic technique is simplicity itself and is covered in a few pages. I was attracted to it because the basic principles are the same as Reiki - offer the energy and let the body do with it what it wills.
